

Privacy Policy Sento Medical Physiotherapy

In order to best perform your treatment, the physiotherapist keeps a file on you. This file contains medical and personal information that is important to your treatment. The Data Protection Act (Wet Bescherming Persoonsgegevens) applies to this file. This act contains rules that apply to the purpose of the file; the nature of the information to be recorded; the people who have access to the file; and the right of the patient or their legal guardian to see the file. In addition to the Data Protection Act, the following privacy policy also applies:

- In addition to your treating physiotherapist, a number of people have access to your file. These are the other physiotherapists in the practice; any future interns; and administrative workers. All are bound by a confidentiality agreement.
- You have the right to see your file. If you believe that any of the information in your file is incorrect, then you can request for it to be changed or removed.
- Only information that is important to your treatment will be saved in your file.
- If your information is important to scientific research or education, it can only be used with your written permission and under complete anonymity.
- Your information will not be provided to any other party unless you or your legal representative have given explicit, written permission.
- After the termination of your treatment your file will be saved for at least 10 years. After that time it can be destroyed.
- If you believe that your information has been inappropriately handled with respect to the Data Protection Act or this privacy policy, you can follow the complaint procedures posted on this website.
